Georges Laraque

Georges Laraque is a 13-year NHL veteran who has played for the Edmonton Oilers, Phoenix Coyotes, Pittsburgh Penguins and Montreal Canadiens. He was known as "The Rock", acting primarily as an enforcer on these teams. His best-selling biography, The Story of The NHL's Unlikeliest Tough Guy, goes well beyond the stereotype of the tough guy. It is the story of a true humanitarian, an engaged citizen not only in his immediate community, but on the global stage as well. The son of Haitian immigrants, Laraque campaigned for World Vision to help with Haitian relief and the rebuilding of the Grace Children's Hospital in Port-au-Prince. Today, Georges is involved in many charities, including the Mira Foundation which provides dogs for disabled individuals and the Team In Training for blood cancer research.

A committed believer in animal rights and a spokesperson for PETA, he became a vegan in 2009 and has, ever since, contributed to the vegetarian movement in Montreal by becoming co-owner of two raw vegan restaurants called Crudessence and Rise Kombucha, a raw, organic, vegan, fairtrade fermented tea beverage company. A conscientious environmentalist, Laraque stepped up in July 2010 to be the deputy leader of the Green Party.

All in all, Georges Laraque is a man of strong convictions. As an avid follower of the Dalai Lama, he believes that: "Just as we should cultivate gentle and peaceful relations with our fellow human beings, we should also extend that same kind of attitude towards the natural environment."

Since his retirement, Georges has been very active as a speaker. He has been invited to hundreds of events and has spoken on various topics such as sports, motivation, racism, bullying, veganism, business, charities and politics.

Georges Laraque est un vétéran de la LNH qui a évolué pendant 13 ans au sein des Oilers d'Edmonton, Coyotes de Phoenix, Penguins de Pittsburgh et Canadiens de Montréal. On le surnommait « The Rock », son rôle principal étant d'être l'homme fort de ces équipes. Sa biographie à succès, La force d'y croire, va bien au-delà du stéréotype du dur à cuire. C'est l'histoire d'un esprit véritablement humanitaire, un citoyen engagé non seulement dans sa communauté immédiate, mais aussi sur la scène mondiale. Fils d'immigrants haïtiens, Georges Laraque a fait campagne pour Vision Mondiale lors de la mission de secours en Haïti et a contribué à la reconstruction de l'Hôpital Grâce pour enfants à Port-au-Prince. Aujourd'hui, Georges œuvre au sein de nombreuses organisations caritatives, notamment la Fondation Mira qui fournit des chiens pour les personnes handicapées ainsi que Team In Training pour la recherche sur les cancers du sang.

Défenseur des droits des animaux et porte-parole de PETA, il devient végétalien en 2009 et n'a cessé depuis de contribuer au mouvement végétarien à Montréal en devenant copropriétaire de deux restaurants végétaliens d'alimentation crue, Crudessence et de l'entreprise Rise Kombucha, une boisson fermentée à base de thé crue, biologique, végétalienne et équitable. Environnementaliste consciencieux, il a accepté, en juillet 2010, le poste de leader adjoint au sein du Parti Vert.

Somme toute, Georges Laraque est un homme aux convictions profondes. En tant que fervent adepte du Dalaï-lama, il croit qu'« Alors que nous devrions tisser des liens empreints de douceur et de paix avec nos frères et sœurs, nous devrions aussi entretenir la même attitude à l'égard de l'environnement. »

Depuis son départ à la retraite, Georges est un conférencier très populaire. Il a été invité à des centaines d'événements et a parlé sur différents sujets tels que les sports, la motivation, le racisme, l'intimidation, le végétalisme, les œuvres de charité et la politique

Nia, 12 ans, est hémiplégique. Elle est paralysée du côté droit. Elle est patiente à l'Hôpital Shriners pour enfants® — Canada depuis l'âge d'un an, soit peu après son arrivée au Canada. Nia a eu un accident vasculaire cérébral dans le ventre de sa mère mais, sur le moment, son état n'a pas été diagnostiqué. Donnée en adoption dans son pays d'origine, la Chine, elle est restée dans un orphelinat jusqu'à ce qu'une famille québécoise l'adoption mais ils ont vite remarqué des différences son état lors de l'adoption mais ils ont vite remarqué des différences chez Nia: elle ne bougeait pas comme les autres bébés et ses piede chez Nia: elle ne bougeait pas comme les autres bébés et ses piede chez Nia: elle ne bougeait pas comme les autres bébés et ses piede chez Nia: elle ne bougeait pas comme les autres bébés et ses piedes chez Nia: elle ne bougeait pas comme les autres bébés et ses piedes chez Nia: elle ne bougeait pas comme les autres bébés et ses piedes chez Nia: elle ne bougeait pas comme les autres bébés et ses piedes chez d'une ballerine.

À un an, Nia a reçu son diagnostic d'hémiplégie. À cette époque, des médecins d'un autre hôpital ont affirmé aux parents qu'elle ne marcherait pas ou ne parlerait jamais. Les médecins de l'Hôpital Shriners pour enfants — Canada n'étaient pas d'accord. Nia a passé beaucoup de temps à l'hôpital au cours des 11 dernières années mais cela en a valu la peine. Non seulement elle marche presque parfaitement, mais elle chante, elle est comédienne professionnelle et porte-parole de l'Hôpital Shriners pour enfants - Canada.

Au fil des ans, Nia a subi deux interventions chirurgicales au pied droit, une troisième à la main droite, sept à huit injections de Botox dans la main et a eu au moins 10 plâtres —d'une durée de six à huit semaines chacun —en plus de porter une orthèse au bras droit. Elle a fait des appris comment faire des « transferts » : son côté droit reste paralysé, appris comment faire des « transferts » : son côté droit reste paralysé, mais il peut maintenant imiter ce que fait son côté gauche, ce qui lui permet de marcher et de faire d'autres activités.

Aujourd'hui, Nia joue à la télé et dans des films. Elle a chanté lors de plusieurs concerts-bénéfice, ainsi qu'au Festival international de la chanson de Granby et à un festival de Trois-Pistoles, au Québec. Elle a également passé une audition à La Voix (Junior). En tant que porteparole pour la campagne #LintimidationCNon de l'Hôpital Shriners pour enfants - Canada, Nia visite des écoles et parle aux élèves de son expérience de l'intimidation tout en expliquant comment elle a surmonté cette épreuve

Nia, 12, is hemiplegic: she is paralyzed on the right side of her body. She's been a patient at Shriners Hospitals for Children® - Canada since she was about a year old, soon after she arrived in Canada. Nia had a stroke in her mother's stomach, but the condition was not disgnosed at the time. She was given up for adoption in her native China and stayed in an orphanage until her Quebecois parents adopted her at the age of 10 months. Upon adoption, they didn't know what was wrong, but Mia had visible differences: she wasn't moving like other babies and she had a foot permanently pointed like a ballerina.

Nia was diagnosed with hemiplegia at a year old. At the time, doctors from another hospital told Nia's parents that she would never walk or talk. Doctors at Canada Shriners Hospital knew better. Nia has spent a lot of time over the past 11 years at the hospital, but it's paid off. She now not only walks nearly perfectly, but she sings, acts professionally and is a spokesperson for Canada Shriners Hospital.

Over the years, Nia has undergone two surgeries to her right foot, another recent surgery on her right hand, has had Botox injections in her hand seven to eight times, she's had at least 10 casts — each for six to eight weeks and has an orthotic for her right arm. Over the years, she has done hundreds of hours of physiotherapy and occupational therapy. This has taught her to "transfer": her right side remains paralyzed but can now mimic what the left side does, allowing her to walk and do other activities.

Nia now acts in TV and movies, has sung at several benefit concerts as well as at an international singing festival in Granby, Quebec and at a festival in Trois-Pistoles, Quebec. She also auditioned for Quebec's French version of The Voice (Junior). Nia has become a spokesperson for Canada Shriners Hospital's #CutTheBull campaign and speaks to students at schools about her bullying experience and how she overcame schools will be continuing this role in 2017-2018.
